WHERE THE MONEY WENT Top movers, gainers and losers

Movers are the counters that attracted the most money today. Gainers and losers are the biggest price changes, close versus previous close.

PAL	305	295	-3.3%	54
MBP	2,090	2,040	-2.4%	30

Gainers: MKCB +2.2% (TZS 3,680 to 3,760), DSE +1.8% (TZS 6,500 to 6,620), DCB +1.2% (TZS 405 to 410). Losers: MUCOBA -8.9% (TZS 450 to 410), PAL -3.3% (TZS 305 to 295), MBP -2.4% (TZS 2,090 to 2,040). Note: MUCOBA, PAL moved on very little trading (five deals or fewer, or under TZS 5 million), so the change says little about broad demand. Cross-listed Kenyan companies that did not trade here but whose DSE price followed their Nairobi close: EABL +0.3%, NMG -1.6%. A counter that does not trade keeps its last DSE price; the exchange also limits how far a price may move in one session.

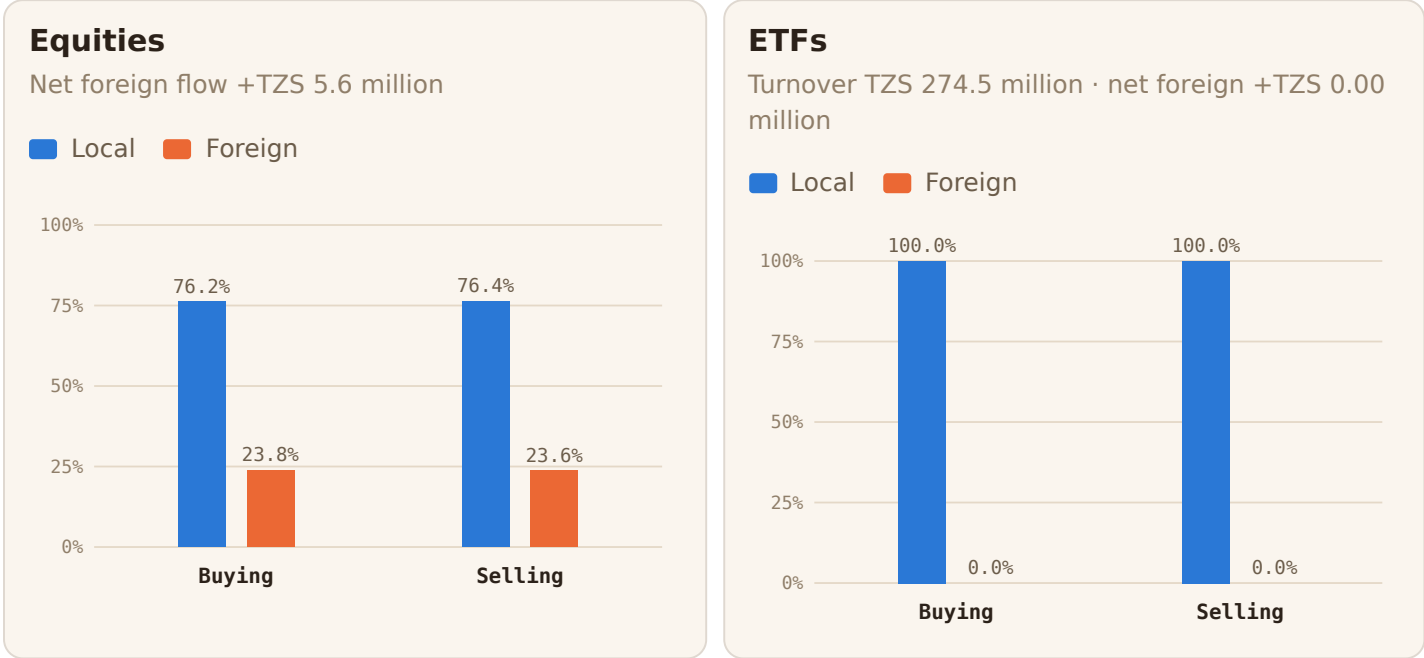

CRDB alone accounted for 49% of all share trading in the session (TZS 1.61 billion). The top 4 counters together made up 93% of share turnover. Trading on the DSE is usually concentrated in a handful of names, which also means the index can move on very few deals. The exchange also reported block trades — large pre-arranged deals between two parties, crossed on a separate board: CRDB counter traded a block of 140,000 shares, while TOL counter traded a block of 178,600 shares.

INVESTOR PARTICIPATION

Foreign versus local investors

Who was buying and who was selling. Percentages are shares of the day's turnover; the totals come from the exchange's own daily report.

Of the TZS 3.30 billion of share purchases, foreign investors accounted for 23.8% and local investors for 76.2%. Foreigners accounted for 23.6% of selling. Foreign buying and selling roughly balanced, so little money entered or left the market from abroad on the day. In the ETF market (TZS 274.5 million traded) all buying was local.

BONDS

Government bonds on the exchange

Treasury bonds change hands on the DSE after they are first sold at Bank of Tanzania auctions. Price is per 100 of face value; yield is the annual return locked in at that price.

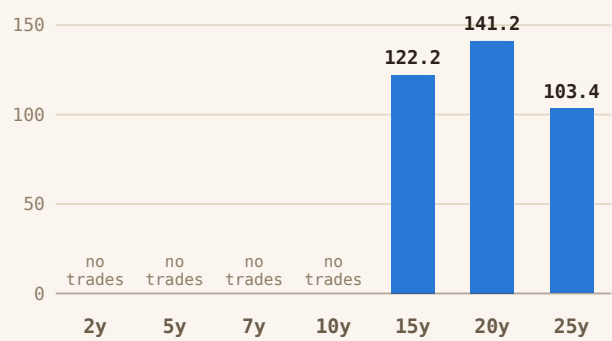

Daily bonds performance by term

Total	8	15,856.0	139.61	132.65	10.83%

TZS 15.86 billion of government bonds (face value) changed hands in 8 deals. The 20-year made up 96% of the value, at a weighted average price of 141.2 per 100 and a yield of 10.67%. The yield is the annual return a buyer locks in by holding the bond to maturity, so it is the number to compare across bonds. Exchange prices include interest built up since the last coupon payment; the clean price column strips that out, and it is the clean price that shows whether a bond changed hands above (premium) or below (discount) its face value of 100. Also traded: 15-year (TZS 75.0 million, yield 10.79%), 25-year (TZS 626.0 million, yield 14.80%). No corporate bonds traded.

Treasury bond auction

At the latest auction (30 Sep 2026) the Government sold a further batch of its 12.25% 15-year bond (No. 696). Investors bid TZS 494.16 billion for the TZS 186.54 billion on offer — 2.6 times the amount available, so the auction was comfortably covered. Successful bidders paid an average of 110.51 per 100 of face value, which works out to a yield of 10.79% a year to maturity. Paying more than 100 is normal when the bond's fixed coupon is above today's market yields: the premium is what brings the buyer's return down to the market rate.

Treasury bills are the Government's short-term borrowing (35 to 364 days). Buyers pay less than the face value and are repaid the full face value at maturity; the difference is their interest, shown here as a yearly yield. At auction No. 1207 on 23 Sep 2026 yields were 35-day 2.52%, 91-day 3.39%, 182-day 5.29%, 364-day 6.29%. Across the 4 maturities offered, investors bid TZS 514.53 billion for TZS 388.70 billion on offer (1.3 times).

Unit trusts (collective investment schemes) pool many investors' money; the NAV per unit is what one unit was worth at the fund's latest valuation (see the Valued column). Daily is the change since the previous valuation; YTD is the change in the unit price since the start of the year; Annualised stretches YTD to a full year so funds can be compared, and is shown only once a month of the year has passed. Largest unit-price gain so far this year: Umoja Fund, +35.8%. Money-market funds usually move a little every day; funds that hold shares, such as Umoja or the Inuka Dozen Index, rise and fall with the stock market. YTD here is the unit price alone: funds that pay income out to investors show a lower unit-price gain than their total return.

ALL COUNTERS DSE daily equities performance

How to read this table. Previous close and close are prices per share in TZS. Change is close versus previous close. YTD compares the close with the last price of the previous year (adjusted for share splits). Turnover is the value traded, deals the number of transactions. Bids and offers are the shares still waiting to be bought or sold at the close. Market cap is shares in issue times price, in billions of TZS. Companies marked ‡ are cross-listed: their main listing is on the Nairobi Securities Exchange, they rarely trade here, and their DSE price follows their Nairobi close.

GLOSSARY The jargon, translated

Counter

One listed company's shares, named by its ticker code (CRDB, NMB, VODA...).

Turnover

The total value of shares bought and sold, in Tanzanian shillings. The best single measure of how busy the market was.

Volume

The number of shares that changed hands.

Deal

One completed transaction between a buyer and a seller.

Market capitalisation

Shares in issue multiplied by the share price: what the whole company (or market) is worth at today's prices.

DSEI

The All Share Index — tracks the prices of every company listed on the DSE, including the cross-listed Kenyan companies.

TSI

The Tanzania Share Index — the same idea, Tanzanian companies only.

Index points

An index is a weighted average of prices scaled to a starting value; only the percentage change day to day is meaningful.

Cross-listed

A company whose main listing is on the Nairobi Securities Exchange (marked ‡ in the table). Its DSE price follows its Nairobi close and it rarely trades here.

Bids and offers

Orders waiting in the book at the close: bids want to buy, offers want to sell. Many more bids than offers suggests demand is waiting for sellers.

Block trade

A large pre-arranged deal between two parties, crossed on the exchange's block board rather than in normal trading.

Foreign participation

The share of buying and selling done by non-resident investors. A net inflow means foreigners bought more than they sold.

ETF

Exchange-traded fund — a basket of shares that trades on the exchange as one share.

Treasury bond

Government borrowing for 2 to 25 years that pays a fixed coupon twice a year. Sold at Bank of Tanzania auctions, then traded on the DSE.

Treasury bill

Government borrowing for 35 to 364 days, sold below face value and repaid at face value; the discount is the interest.

Coupon

The fixed annual interest a bond pays on its face value, set when the bond is first issued.

Price per 100

Bond prices are quoted per 100 of face value. Exchange prices include interest built up since the last coupon; the clean price strips it out, and a clean price above 100 is a premium, below 100 a discount.

Yield (to maturity)

The annual return a buyer locks in at today's price if the bond is held to the end. Prices and yields move in opposite directions.

Weighted average price / yield

The average of today's trades (or auction allocations), weighted by the amount of each — so one big deal counts for more than ten small ones.

Bid-to-cover

Total bids divided by the amount offered at an auction. 2.6 times means investors wanted 2.6 shillings for every shilling on sale.

Unit trust / CIS

A collective investment scheme that pools investors' money into one professionally managed fund; you own units of the fund.

NAV per unit

Net asset value per unit — the fund's assets minus liabilities, divided by the units in issue. Managers set their buying and selling prices from it, sometimes with a small charge, so the price you pay may differ slightly.

YTD

Year to date: the change since the last valuation of the previous year.

Annualised

A year-to-date return stretched to a full 365 days so funds can be compared regardless of the date.

Build notes. NMB: year-start price adjusted for a 10-for-1 share split.
